Commented [KM1]: Colleagues I disagree with this requirement, digital marketing does not play a role when it comes to website development or migration rather improve the Project management and link it to PMP or Prince2 which is related to I.T field and increase the points to 10 and do away with marketing. In terms of the principle of marketing or SEO the rebrand will assist with audience reach. Though for this requirement marketing is irrelevant.

Commented [JM2R1]: Colleagues, how do we ensure that the service provider has competency in SEO (Search Engine Optimization) when building the website? If we remove the certification which affirms they competency in doing so.

There difference between the PMP and digital marketing certification is that SEO expertise are essential for what we build and Project management is essential for how it is delivered.

In this instance we are not worried about delivery but rather competency to what is claimed in the proposal's that will be submitted.
